During the ratification, all the parties agreed that the University authority would construct the perimeter fence and pay compensation of three meters at both back and front of the fence to any farmer whose farmland is affected.

Similarly, anybody whose house or farm the fence passes through, will continue to use such land until when the University want to use the entire land.

The agreement also clarified that whenever the University wants to acquire a household within the area, it would pay full compensation to the owner of the house and provide such person with a land to build another house. However, if it is a farmland, only compensation for the farm would be paid.

Also in the agreement, the University would construct gates at different locations of the fence to provide easy access roads to the houses or farmlands of the affected inhabitants.

University allocates land for construction of Early Child Care Centre

Usmanu Danfodiyo University, Sokoto, has allocated a land for the establishment of Early Child Care Centre in the main campus.

In a letter of approval signed by the Director of Physical Planning and Development of the University, Engineer Halilu Saidu Zwal, the land would cover 100 metres by 50 metres near the University Primary School. The statement further said the approval letter was attached with the survey plan showing the site allocated.

It would be recalled that late last year during a courtesy visit by the executives of the association led by Dr. Asiyatu Bagudo, the association presented the request of the land to the Vice Chancellor, Professor Lawal Suleman Bilbis.

Students Union launches UDUS Bike

The executive council of the Usmanu Danfodiyo University Students' Union has launched seven new motor cycles to ease transportation problems within the University Campus.

This was disclosed by the President of the Students' Union, Comrade Faruk Barade, who said the gesture was part of his campaign promises to assist students with easy and affordable means of transportation especially those in the hostels and Faculties of Agriculture, Management Sciences and Social Sciences.

In his speech, the Vice chancellor Professor Lawal Suleman Bilbis commended the effort of the Students' Union in providing additional means of transportation to the teaming students' population.

He said it was a good gesture and testimony to the positive function of the leadership of the Union. He explained that the idea of the purchase of the motor-bikes was an indication that given adequate resources, the Students' Union could do much better.

The Vice-chancellor appealed to the benefitting students to reciprocate the gesture by always paying for services rendered by the motor -bikes in order to ensure the continuity and sustainability of the venture.

Professor Bilbis expressed optimism that with their cooperation and commitment, they stand to bequeath a lasting legacy for the present and future generations of students of Usmanu Danfodiyo University, Sokoto.

UDUS VC, Prof. L.S. Bilbis and French Ambassador Mr. Jerone Pasquire when the former visited the University

French Ambassadors visit UDUS

French ambassador to Nigeria Mr. Jerone Pasquire has expressed his country's willingness to support Universities in the developing countries.

Mr. Pasquire who disclosed this when he and two other former French ambassadors to Korea and Croatia visited Usmanu Danfodiyo University on an official engagement, said this was because of his country's commitment to the value of education.

He said despite security challenges, French government was ready to collaborate with Usmanu Danfodiyo University in terms of any meaningful development.

In a welcome address, the Vice Chancellor, Professor Lawal Suleman Bilbis thanked the Ambassador and his entourage for the visit. He informed the Ambassador on different courses offered by the University including English language which the neighbouring French speaking countries are major beneficiaries.

The Ambassador was taken round by the Vice Chancellor to Sokoto Energy Research Center and Solar Village where the Director explained the purpose of the Centre and the activities it carries out.

Council commends Provost, Deans, and HODs of UDUS

The Governing Council of the Usmanu Danfodiyo University, Sokoto under the distinguished chairperson Hon Justice Pearl Enejere (rtd) commended the contributions of all Deans, Heads of Department and other members of staff over 2019 accreditation exercise.

This view was made known at the 158th meeting of the Council based on the report of the Vice-chancellor on the 2019 nationwide accreditation of Academic Programs conducted by the National Universities Commission (NUC).

In a letter of appreciation, the Registrar, Mal. Nura Belko, thanked the University Community and expressed the University's profound gratitude and appreciation for the spectacular support and assistance demonstrated by all the members during the conduct of the exercise.

The Registrar urged everyone to continue to work assiduously towards the success of the University in all its endeavours.

UDUS Inducts 20 Radiographers

The second set of Radiography graduants of Usmanu Danfodiyo University have been formally inducted by the University Management.

Speaking at the induction ceremony, the Dean, Faculty of College of Health Sciences, Professor Suleman Sa'idu explained that the University Management has since the inception of the Radiography programme been given significant concession and preferential treatment to the department to enable it grow.

Professor Sa'idu said that was by way of staff training for post graduate studies and provision of infrastructure. Despite expressing gratitude for that gesture, the Dean requested for the recruitment of more academic staff and sponsorship for PhD programmes.

While thanking the parents and all stakeholders involved in the training of the graduants, the Dean assured the government and parents that the graduants received the best training possible. He also expressed confidence that they will be found worthy of the certificates they earned.

He reminded the graduants that they would henceforth be ambassadors of UDUS, having been certified worthy of their certificates both in character and learning.

In his address, the President of the Association of Radiographers of Nigeria, Dr. Dima Zira Joseph charged the graduants to be dedicated to the oath that ushered them into the profession and the code of conduct and ethics guiding their practice in the hospital setting.

Dr. Joseph also counseled them to be humble, honest, diligent and dedicated to learning in order to develop themselves and build competence in Radiography in Nigeria, Africa and globally.

The President urged the inductees to owe the patient a duty of effective quality care in their service and practice of Radiography profession. He also stressed the need for them to attend annual conferences, general meetings, scientific workshops, seminars to update themselves with global trends in medical imaging and radiation sciences.

The Registrar of Radiography Registration Board of Nigeria, Professor Marck Chukwudi Okeji who administered oath of allegiance to the 20 inductees, disclosed that the board had revised its curriculum in order to meet up with the modern challenges in the Radiography profession.

Professor Okeji, while congratulating the graduants, urged them not to rush outside the country for 'greener pasture' but to remain and fill the gaps available in the country.

NGO Partners UDUS on Education Development

The Vice Chancellor of Usmanu Danfodiyo University, Sokoto, Professor Lawal Suleman Bilbis has expressed the willingness of the University to partner with Non Governmental Organizations in promoting education development.

Professor Bilbis who made the remark when executive members of African Better Life Organization (ABLO) paid him a courtesy call, said it was part of measures put in place by the University for achieving academic excellence.

He explained that while the University was rated as the most peaceful University in the country, it has also maintained its position for non compromise in academic standard.

Earlier speaking, the Executive Director of ABLO Malam Nasiru Alhaji stated that they were in the University to congratulate the Vice Chancellor for the meaningful development he has brought to the University within his short tenure in office.

He said the Organization which was formed with the aim of improving the life of citizens in Africa, conducted a number of activities towards uplifting the living standard of the people of the continent.

He also informed the University management that the Organization has made adequate preparations to conduct quiz competition among female students of higher institutions of learning in the North west with a view encourage students to devote more to their studies.

He therefore solicited for the support and cooperation of the University towards successful conduct of the inter schools competition.
